CHILDREN IN WORSHIP

Children frequently participate in activities they do not fully understand. If they feel valued in those activities and if the adults around them let them know that the activities are very important, children participate as well as they are able and look forward to the day when they will understand more fully what is going on.

Also, during the elementary school years, children are focused on the larger world. They want to know how everything around them works and who gets to do what. They want to try almost everything. That will not last. During adolescence the focus turns to my peers and our special activities. That means we have a very important window of opportunity to invite children into the congregation's worship between the ages of six and about twelve. If we do it well, they will have both a home within the larger congregation and a foundational understanding of worship on which they can build throughout their lives.

PWS&D MISSION MOMENT

A Warm Welcome for Jumai

Whenever Jumai went out into his Nepali village, he would be cruelly mocked because of his ulcers, sore patches and swollen legs. Jumai was living with leprosy and couldn't afford to pay for ongoing treatment. Visiting the PWS&D-supported Shining Hospital changed everything. When Jumai was admitted, he was struck by something more than the timely service and quality medical care—the love and acceptance he felt was a welcome relief after years of shame and judgement. "I feel at home in this hospital," says Jumai. "I receive such good care." Filled with thanks for PWS&D, Jumai looks forward to a better future.

From Rev. Joyce

The season after Epiphany spans from January 13 through to Transfiguration Sunday, which is March 3 this year. I have chosen to use a resource from Discipleship Ministries of the United Methodist Church to aid me in planning, preparing, and preaching during these weeks. The resource divides "the season after Epiphany this year into two complementary series designed to equip congregations to 'see all the people.' The first series focuses upon lifting up the gifts in the community and strategically acting together as one body with many interconnected parts. This body then, works as a cohesive unit to reach out beyond the walls of the church and bring people to know and receive the love of God." Part One of this two-part series is called Greater Gifts. The scripture focus for part one of the series is...

January 13 Luke 3:15-22

January 20 1 Corinthians 12:1-11

January 27 1 Corinthians 12:12-31a

February 3 1 Corinthians 13:1-13

I have a resource available for those who may wish to look more closely at discovering their spiritual gifts. I am also willing to meet on Tuesday afternoons from 1:30 - 2:30pm for more discussion, if people are interested in further conversation. You can connect with me for the resource and/or to confirm your attendance for Tuesday afternoons. May this season after Epiphany be one of much learning, joy, and peace.
